Jemariz (Jem) Arzobal served as the 2021-2022 Co-Social Chair for the UC San Diego Chancellor's Scholars Alliance. In this role, she helped organize game nights and other social opportunities for the Chancellor's Scholars community. Jem has a passion for arts and crafts, and previously started a small jewelry business. Her other interests include playing video games, watching anime, and seeing local bands.

Jem's mentee shared the following about their mentoring relationship:

“My peer mentor has been helpful with offering advice with registration and also other academic advice depending on our conversations. They've been very friendly and helpful and I appreciate their time. I really enjoy that it feels like we have a friendship rather than a professional relationship. We usually contact each other through messaging as that was the method we both felt comfortable with. I don't have any specific things that I wish my mentor would do differently.”

“My mentor has been very helpful in providing advice as well as emotional support in regards to the classes I'm taking. I really like how they're super friendly and we have a friendship that isn't too professional. We talk quite often through messaging which has been nice because sometimes my schedule is too packed to meet up in person and I'm also a commuter which influences that as well.”
